

Letter from the editor

Standing L-R

Mark McCoy, Tamie Sibley, Shonda Olsen, Tara Grillo, Richard Gilbert, John Weber, Elise McGill, Dan Schmitt, Jack Miller, Jamie Lynch, Terry Delli Quadri. Kneeling: Tanna Brock, Mari Jo Hoaglund. Not pictured: Kellie Shockley, Cathy Klebba, Dale Cooper, and Karen Schumann advisor

Three Wire Winter is proud to present our 15th issue. I hope you will enjoy reading all of the interesting stories about Northwest Colorado's history.

Two students from Three Wire Winter started working early this fall. Before the class really got under way they were off to Lander, Wyoming, to help a school magazine get started there. Richard Gilbert, Tamie Sibley, and our advisor, Tanna Brock all thought their experience was valuable and enjoyed the trip. We are still waiting to see their final project, Wind River Cache.

This year's class is smaller than usual, so everyone must work very hard to produce pleasurable magazines and raise enough money to publish them. For the first time in years the class is financially stable. This fall we had a very successful sales campaign. "Three Wire Winter

Skates For Sales" was the slogan. Students sold magazines around the area on roller skates generously donated by Sore Saddle Cyclery. It all came off very well.

Another sales campaign was also undertaken to raise money. Students pushed hard to sell calendars to local businessmen and tourists. Prizes were offered for large sales and many of us set goals for ourselves as well as the class.

We welcomed a new advisor this year, Mrs. Karen Schumann. She took over for Mr. McKelvie who is taking a short break from teaching to travel. He has visited many Fox Fire projects like Three Wire Winter around the country.

A Three Wire Winter has finally descended upon us. If any of our readers need something to do on a cold winter night, write us a letter. We enjoy hearing from our readers. They may also want to spend time reading a past issue. Subscriptions are four issues for $9.00 and single issues are $2.50. Donations are accepted and welcomed.

Write to:

Three Wire Winter
Box 770664

Steamboat Springs, CO 80477

Thank you,
Terry DelliQuadri